Electa Wilmot (6), born Feb. 15, 1785 oldest child of Elisha and Hannah Gladding Wilmot; born in Conn. She died Nov. 23, 1861 in Ridgeville, Ohio. Married Tillotson Terrell May 1, 1804 when he was 18 yrs. old. They came to Ohio in 1810 in company with several men, one who was the leader had been here before. Electa and Tillotson brought 3 children with them, built a cabin and lived always near the permanent home and farm. About two years later he was building a better cabin a little distance away. One day she went to the brook for water, then started to see how the new cabin was coming on. She became confused in the dense woods and could not find the new cabin. She tried to get back home but was lost and wandered all day and far into the night when she came to an Indian trail near the mouth of Black River, near the present site of the town of Lorain. Then she found her bearing and reached home the next morning. Parties had searched all night for her; But had no way of tracing her. She had left a baby in the care of the older children.

Another story of Electa, showing her courage and perseverance in dangerous circumstances is told by a granddaughter, Mrs. Cadius Beebe Beveridge who in 1930 was living in Ridgeville, (She would be 84 yrs. old July 4, 1930) 1/2 mile from the original home of her grandparents, Tillotson and Electa Terrell, and on a part of the farm that was her father's. Her father was Laurel Beebe and her mother was Lucinda, the fourth child of Tillotson and Electa.

There had been trouble with the Indians and the settlement feared an outbreak. The women and children had been sent to a blockhouse in Columbia (Township south of Ridgeville) where they would find protection. Electa, in company with Molly Buber Terrell, each with a baby in arms, and other children, set out through the woods. They sat on a log to rest. Molly said, "Electa, I can't, I shan't, and I won't go another step." Electa said, "Molly, would you stay here all night and expose these children to the danger of Indians, bears and wolves? Come, we must go on, I'll carry your baby and mine." And she did.

Children and grandchildren of Tillotson and Electa (6) Wilmot Terrell:

1. Horatio Terrell (7) born Nov. 14, 1805 in Conn. Died April 25, 1878. Married Eliza Lewis in Ridgeville, Ohio; born 1806, dies 1884. They had 8 children. Decendants spell name Tyrell.

NOTES

Electa (6) Wilmot Terrell was the first white woman in Ridgeville. She never had a picture taken until long after her children were grown. Her daughter, Cynthia Terrell Porter, urged her to sit for a picture, which she did in the 1850's.

Cadai B. Beveridge tells of being sent to her grandmother, Electa, to help string apples for drying. This was Dec. 2, 1850. The day John Brown was hung, Electa cried all day saying she did not want to live through another war. Electa died in Nov. 1859, so she lived through a few months of the Civil War.

Cadai remembered a set of chairs and a table whittled out by her grandfather, Tillotson. Her father, Laurel Beebe, put splint bottoms in the chairs.

Tillotson Terrell, husband of Electa, was accidentally shot by a neighbor when hunting deer on Dec. 23, 1838. His funeral was on Christmas Day.

Electa was left to carry on with her eleven children, which she did bravely and with courage. All her children were born in a cabin with puncheon floors. Shortly before each event, she scrubbed this floor, as it took so long for it to dry that it could not be wet again for some time.

Cadals says 70 grandchildren are reported but she can count only 67, with 18 still living in June, 1930.

In this ever-widening circle, there must be many great and many more great, great grandchildren of Electa (6).

Among the latter are triplets; three girls: Joy, Jean, Janet Mills.

This sketch shows their line of direct descent:

Electa W. Terrell (6)

Her son Lovinus (7) Terrell

His son George (8) Terrell

His daughter Doris married Sterling Mills and they had triplet daughters Joy, Jean, and Janet born on Feb. 20, 1926. They live on the Mills Dairy Farm at Ridgeville near the home where Electa spent most of her life.

The first cabins of the early settlers had blankets for doors and boards for windows. When we consider the inconveniences and discomforts incurred by our ancestors, we cannot be thankful enough for the benefits which we enjoy today, as the results of their cabins and privations in the wilderness and deep woods. We should pause now and then and honor their memory. We should strive to know more of the conditions under which they lived and to pass this knowledge on to future generations. Electa lived near a school and was a real grandmother to the school children.

Around the cabins a brush fence was made to ward off bears and wolves. For three months, Electa never saw a white woman. Then another party of emigrants from near their former home in Conn. stopped on their way to find a location for a settlement. When a friend first came inside the brush enclosure, Electa was speechless with joy to see another white woman. Many stories of giving bread to the Indians are told. Settlers did this in order to keep on good terms with them. Electa said she feared them more than wild animals, as she could shoot the animals.

Children of Horatio (7) and Eliza Lewis Terrell:

1. Lucia (8) married Nelson Salisbury and lived in Butteridge. Their children were Chas., Edith, Emma, Fred, Louise
2. Sarah (8) Died Young.
3. Edgar (8) married late Belle King. Belle's first husband was Levi Terrell, no relation to Edgar. Edgar was a soldier in the Civil War. He had accumulated considerable means but spent it in drink. Later entered the Soldiers' home at Dayton and reformed.

Edgar and Belle had one daughter who died young.

4. Helen (8) 4th child of Horatio and Eliza Terrell, married Henry Culver, who was an insurance agent and lived in the East. She has one child Frances Marion (9). Helen bought the old Terrell farm in Ridgeville and improved it.

5. Marion (8) -- called May -- married Darius Chamberlain of Twinsburg. They had one son Lewis born Jan. 17, 1872 who married Ella _____ then died, leaving six children. His widow now lives in Cleveland and is a dressmaker. She married a second time.

Marion Chamberlain was burned to death and buried in the family lot in Ridgeville.

6. Frances (8) youngest daughter of Horatio (7) and Eliza Terrell, married John Schtisell, an artist, and moved to _____, Iowa. They had a son Franze (9) who now is dead.

7. Burt Lewis (8) Terrell (now spelled Tyrell) -- (Horatio's family became aristocratic) married Lucy Faxon, the widow of Orson Terrell. She was a daughter of George Faxon -- a brother of Uncle John Faxon who married Esther Terrell. Burt has three children; Kent (9), Ralph (9), and Zada who married Earl Rodgers and lived in Mentor.

8. Chase Lewis (8) Terrell married 1st Celia Gill of Cleveland and had a daughter Laura (9). He married 2nd Clara Chamberlain. He spent his fortune and took poison. Clara lived at Euclid Beach and died of cancer.

Of Lucinda (7), fourth child of Tillotson and Electa, much more is known, as her daughter Cadais (8) has furnished the information. Lucinda (7) was the first white girl to be born in Ridgeville, Dec. 19, 1812. She died Nov. 15, 1850. She was married to Laurel Beebe, who was born in Waterbury, Conn. June 19, 1808.

Before noting others in the family of Electa, I must pause to give something about my new-found cousin Cadais B. Beveredge. On a visit with her June 13-14-15, 1930, she gave me much of the material for this history. Several letters previously had given the list of Electa's children and facts. Cadais married James Beveredge and lived happily. She talks about the home, their journeys to and from it; their garden and flowers. One picture of her shows a rose vine that was brought from his former home in Ashland Co. Another shows the well and the vine covered shelter. A large yard and fine garden; also fruit trees. This was a part of her father's farm. On the 17 acres, they raised fruit, flowers and vegetables and sold them at a roadside table. In her childhood, Cadais delighted to go and watch her grandmother pick geese.

There were many fine trees along this midd-ridge Road, then Ridgeville. The picture of the well shows her childhood home, that of Laurel Beebe, in the distance.

In spite of the loss of their house, barn and horse in a fire, and other vicissitudes, they led a contented and joyous life, always doing for others. Since Mr. Beneredge's death in 1923, she has spent the summer alone at her home, tending flowers, keeping house and as interested in all affairs of life as many who are half her age. She will be 84 on July 4, 1930.

Although nearly blind, she can read some and never mentions her almost sightless eyes. She has the fire and spirit of the pioneers. She has the bright blue eyes noted afore in each generation of the Wilmots. One little 10 yr. old girl, Jane Adams of Mantua, Ohio, a great granddaughter of Amzi Wilmot, has such blue eyes.

Laurel Beebe was a man of sterling character and well equipped both mentally and financially to carry on. Friends and relatives relied on his advice and assistance. In the early history of Ridgeville, where many from New England were seeking homes in Ohio and farther west, he always kept open house for all travelers and helped them on their way.

Parents of Laurel Beebe were Chester Beebe and Marcia Caulkins Beebe.

The parents of Chester Beebe and grandparents of Laurel Beebe were David Beebe, Sr. born in Waterbury, Conn. April 23, 1747 who married Lydia Terrell Feb. 1, 1768.

In a later generation, Laurel Beebe married Lucinda Terrell in Ridgeville.

Betty (6) second child of Elisha and Hannah Gladding Wilmot.

No information -- probably died young.

Ella (6) Wilmot and Lucretia Blair -- (Ella's name was originally Elihu). The following was written by Martha Wilmot Squire to Amzi Wilmot in 1882, just after the laying of the cornerstone of the foundation for the barn, on the farm which was the first home of Ella and Lucretia, through the property of Amzi Wilmot and later of William and Carrie Wilmot Spray. The house was built in 1823, the year Amzi was born. It was occupied by Wm. and Carrie united Oct. 1927.

"Brother Amzi"

Here are a few lines which should have been deposited in the cornerstone of the barn, but perhaps you would like to have them now. Years ago, I penned down the following just as Mother told it to me:

Ella (6) Wilmot was born Feb. 26, 1789 at Cheshire, Conn., New Haven Co. He came to Ohio in Aug. 1802 with Amzi Atwater; then back to Conn. in June 1805. He then moved to Mantua, Portage Co., Ohio in the Spring of 1806.

Lucretia Blair was born Dec. 8, 1790 at Blanford, Hampshire County, Mass. -- moved to Mantua, Partage Co., Ohio -- started the 15th of June and arrived July 28, 1806. Ella Wilmot and Lucretia Blair were married Feb. 18, 1810 by Elias Harmon Esq. of Mantua.

Before Betsey's marriage, she and Rowna C. Jennings (who was a daughter of Phineas and Cleona Wilmot) had a loom set up in the Micholas home directly across the field from the old Wilmot home. And here they spent days weaving coverlets and woolen and linen sheets, the material for which was raised on the farms of the Wilmots and Jennings. The sheep were raised by each man and his sons, the wool carded, spun and woven by the daughters. Comforts and clothing were made of this heavy cloth. Also, linen sheets and towels from flax.

Harriet Wilmot (7), fourth child of Ella (6) and Lucretia Wilmot was born at the Wilmot homestead in Mantua, Ohio on Dec. 2, 1818. She was married on Jan. 26, 1842 to Edwin Sanford. They lived on the farm next east from her father's home all their married life. It was a home of genuine hospitality, especially to those who had no home. Relations and friends visited for weeks. Aunts Sophronia and Mary each found a home here for a time. They took into their home Frank Van Allen while a small boy. It was a real home to him until his marriage.

This house was reached by a lane from the main road, going north toward Mantua Center. Later, he built a large and very substantial brick house on the road, having water piped from a spring. This house is occupied (1930) by the younger daughter Blanche (9) Alger and her family; also, a grandson Samuel James (10) Alger. Samuel (8), as was his father Edwin (7), a man of quite, steady demeanor; both were almost lifetime members and officers in the Mantua Center Disciple Church which they attended faithfully and supported generously.

July 24, 1930 came the sad news that Blanche had drowned herself in the pond very near to the site of the log house built by Ella and Lucretia Wilmot in 1810. Years of illness and the result of serious operations unbalanced her mind. Thus history and tragedy are brought close together. She was always thoughtful of others, kind and helpful.

She made long yearly visits to the old home in Mantua, always going in the Spring. She went to the stone heap that marked the site of the log house and for many years found the hop vine that her mother planted. She was the only one who told much of the ways of life of that early time, and of relatives of earlier generations, but mostly she talked of her mother.

After the death of her sister Martha and Dr. Squire, she made her home with their son Marion, who was a physician in Randolph, Portage Co., Ohio. It was here that she was cared for by Jessie, Marion's wife. She died Jan. 16, 1907 aged 86. The funeral was from her old home, then the home of Carrie Wilmot Spray, and she was laid to rest in the lot with her mother, father, grandmother, and one sister, Sarah Bosworth.

Amzi Wilmot (7) born Feb. 18, 1823 in Mantua, Ohio in the old log house which was built in 1810 by Ella and Lucretia B. Wilmot. The frame house still stands (1930) which was built in 1823, the same summer that Amzi was born. It was made unusually strong and was changed and repaired some by Amzi and Helen M. Wilmot in 1872. The old center chimney having three fireplaces in it was taken out. New siding put on, the stairway was made near the front door, the places of bedroom and pantry at either end of the large dining room were exchanged, a stone floor for the rear porch put in. A new kitchen was built, the old one moved back and used for a milk room and wood house. This part of the house has an upper room, called the woodhouse chamber. It was here that the spinning wheel, reel, swifts and flax spinning wheel were kept. The writer has seen Aunt Mary spin wool yarn here and helped to wind the skeins from the swifts into balls. As the yarn was spun it was wound into skeins by the reel. It was here the children played on cold and rainy days and stored a supply of nuts for winter.

Small bunches of native herbs were tied to the rafters to dry, sage for seasoning the homemade sausage; also, for popcorn for use on winter evenings. A large box where huge cakes of maple sugar were kept. Many a trip to this box was made to break off a piece, which took the place of candy. A barrel held the fine pulverized sugar which was made by stirring, when hot, in the large square sugar pan. Father Amzi most always did this, the children each having some in a milk pan to stir. Each child had his own wooden paddle. Carrie still has hers.

Here, too, was the low walnut cradle in which the babies slept and old fashioned churns of many sizes. A cheese press was below, and the writer remembers of cheese being made. Aunt Mary, for two years the faithful housekeeper and mother of the children after Minerva's death, taught us to knit stockings and sew, also to help with the dairy work. My first remembrance of work, was to gather a pan of chips each evening for morning fires and picking a pail of currants for which I was paid three cents in paper money.

Later on in the autumn, gathering nuts from all corners of the farm, helping to bring in vegetables from the garden, apples, peaches, and grapes from orchard and yard, corn from the fields and sweet smelling herbs from the woods and brook bottom. Long evenings of paring apples for drying, also peaches for drying and canning. Then many an evening of holding candles for father while he cut up and prepared for curing the meat from animals raised on the farm.

Butchering was one of the great days on the farms of that period, as well as wood sawing, threshing and sheep shearing; when men of neighboring farms exchanged work. Soap making was another day in the spring usually, when a bench was set up.

There were days, too, of recreation; trips to the melon patch and peach orchards just to "get some to eat", then sitting out in the yard and having a real treat.

Well can we say with the words of the song, "How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood", or with Whittier in one of his poems.

"The hills are dearest, which my childish feet has ^{to} the earliest, and the dream most sweet, are ever those at which our young lips drank, stooping to their waters o'er the mossy banks."

We should not omit trips to the sugar camp with friends, from the village, who were always glad to visit us in sugar making season, nor sugaring off and eating wax on snow.

Table IV shows the results of the analysis of variance for the effect of the concentration of the solution on the rate of reaction. The results show that the rate of reaction increases with increasing concentration of the solution. The effect of the concentration of the solution on the rate of reaction is more pronounced at higher temperatures. The results also show that the rate of reaction is affected by the nature of the solvent used. The rate of reaction is highest in water and lowest in organic solvents. The results also show that the rate of reaction is affected by the nature of the reactants. The rate of reaction is highest for the reaction of the most reactive reactants and lowest for the reaction of the least reactive reactants.

Amzi Spray, infant son lived but a few weeks.
Ralph Spray (9)	born May 10, 1892

Carrie and William lived at the Wilmot home all their married lives, until Oct. 1927. It was a home of genuine hospitality. Relatives and friends from far and near came to the old home, of which many of them knew from their parents.

Soon after the marriage of Carrie and William, Amzi and Helen moved to a small home near the village. A few years after the death of Amzi (7) in 1889, Carrie (8) and Wm. bought the farm and continued to live there for many years. About 1925, they sold it but occupied the buildings until they moved to Mantua Village in Oct., 1927.

They celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in 1938. Mr. Spray is a charter member of the Mantua Masonic Lodge and Mrs. Spray a member of Eastern Star and she is an active worker in the various organizations of the Hilltop Christian Church, of which she is a member.

Mr. Spray celebrated his 90th birthday in Aug. 1943.

Ethel Dean Spray (9) born in Mantua, Ohio Aug. 25, 1880 married Wilbur Clyde Deeds of Cuyahoga Falls, Nov. 26, 1904, at the home of her parents. They went the same evening to his home and the following Spring built and moved into a house next to Father and Mother Deeds. Here they have continued to live and have raised a family of five children.

Dorothy Deeds	(10)	born Oct. 7, 1905
Ethel Deeds	(10)	born Aug. 3, 1907
Catherine Deeds	(10)	born April 17, 1909
Wilbur Deeds	(10)	born Aug. 9, 1912
John Deeds	(10)	born Nov. 20, 1914

All these children have early learned to earn and use to good advantage, the result of their labor. On their mother's good advice, their little earnings were carefully saved for some good definite purpose. Each had a part in the homework and did it. The girls learned sewing at school and from 13 yrs. up made their own dresses. Dorothy (10) was a fine student and always had very high grades. Also, a fine taste for music and Arts; played unusually well the violin at the age of 14 years.

She taught violin playing to young children until she finished High School (Jan., 1923). After graduating, she went to work in an office in Akron and by careful management and planning saved enough to send herself to Carnegie Art School in Pittsburgh for one year. Drawing, painting and designing were her greatest pleasure. After her year at school, she returned to her position in Akron where she had earned a reputation for accuracy in her work.

She was married on March 23, 1929 to Paul F. Yost, a teacher in Callinwood High School in Cleveland. Children:

Philip Earl (11) born Nov. 3, 1930

Dean graduated from Mantua Village High School in 1897 and began teaching in the country schools. By teaching and attending the New York State Normal School, alternately, she was graduated from that institution; At Oswego, New York, on Jan. 29, 1904. She was especially adapted to teaching young pupils and held a position at a kindergarden school in Akron until her marriage.

Ethel Deeds (10), daughter of Wilbur and Dean (Ethel) (9) Deeds, finished High School in Jan., 1925 in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. Then she went to work for the Akron Beacon Journal and won several promotions, being always ready and cheerful in her work, which made her a valued assistant in many branches of the work. She had always had a desire to go to college and for one year worked half days and attended classes in Akron University. This was not wholly satisfactory and she was not able to complete an entire year's work. The next year, she worked full-time and the following year, Sept. 1929, she entered Wooster College. Here she found a spirit of friendship and cooperation on the part of professors and students that was entirely new and most delightful. Before entering, she wrote,

"The more I think about going, the happier I become."

After two days in Wooster, she wrote,

"We all feel as if we had lived here weeks instead of days. I'm having a better time than I ever had before."

And later she wrote,

"I like the Wooster College spirit; not only in football but in everything. Honesty and sincerity are very evident."

Catherine Deeds (10), third daughter of Wilbur Clyde and Dean (Ethel) Spray Deeds is a good student and graduated from Cuyahoga Falls High School in Jan., 1927. In Sept. of the same year, she entered Western Reserve School for nurses. Diligent in her studies, active and interested in her work, she has made a good record and will graduate on June 12, 1930.

Lucretia Ruth Spray (9), second child and daughter of Wm. and Carrie Wilmot (8) Spray, graduated from Mantua Village High School. She taught school at Mantua Center for several years with marked success. She is quick and thorough in all her work, always cheerful and pleasant, an ideal teacher for young pupils.

She was married to L. Roy Reifsnider of Akron. After a honeymoon spent in the woods of northern Michigan, they settled in Akron where Roy had a good position with a bank. Later he was made manager of a real estate company and is a successful businessman.

Two sons were born to this union:

Lee Spray Reifsnider	(10)	born Nov. 29, 1911
Franklin Reifsnider	(10)	born Oct. 8, 1915

Lee Spray Reifsnider (10), oldest son of Lucretia Spray (9) and Roy Reifsnider, is a thorough going and cheerful young man, just now (1930) finishing his second year in college work in Miami University at Oxford, Ohio. He began work early, selling papers, caddying and for three successive summers, has had work at the Boy Scout Camp in Peninsula, O. Last summer (1929), he was leader and instructor for a group of boys and will have the same position this year. A great responsibility for a young man not yet twenty.

On Nov. 10, 1930 a sad and sudden end came to this young man, so full of hope and promise.

Franklin Reifsnider (10), second son of Lucretia (9) and Roy, is a careful and dependable worker and student, now in High School (1930). He is an active and interested member of the school band, having a talent for music.

The following is a list of the names of the children of Franklin Reifsnider (10) and Lucretia (9) who were born in the year 1911. The names are listed in the order in which they were born. The names of the children are: Franklin Reifsnider (10), second son of Lucretia (9) and Roy, is a careful and dependable worker and student, now in High School (1930). He is an active and interested member of the school band, having a talent for music.

Maud W. Spray (9), third child and daughter of William and Carrie Wilmot (8) Spray, was born in Mantua, Nov. 30, 1888. She attended the village school and with a fine voice and with only a little training is able to take part in all local musical activities. She is a member of Hilltop Christian Church and choir and is faithful and constant in attendance. She was married to Chas. H. Adams. Children:

Jean Olive	(10)	born Dec. 16, 1915
William Francis	(10)	born Oct. 27, 1917
June Esther	(10)	born March 1, 1920
Ruth	(10)	born Jan. 1, 1922
Mary Emily	(10)	born Nov. 9, 1923

The family has always lived in Mantua and the children are all attending the village school. They all have musical talent and are good in art and school work generally. June is especially gifted as a good student. She was cared for when quite young by Aunt Addie, who loved her most devotedly and provided a sum for her education beyond High School. Their father, Charles, died in 1925.

Left with five small children, Maud has with patience and diligence devoted herself to her children and with her parent's assistance is rearing them to be faithful and dependable.

Ralph Spray (9), fourth child and son of Wm. and Carrie Wilmot Spray (8), was born in Mantua, May 10, 1892.

He was not a strong child and could not attend school regularly. He was fond of reading and had a very good memory. He could quote statistics and facts and had a good understanding of their importance. As a child, he loved the woods and studied wild plants. Later, he developed a fondness for travel. He collected stamps and had some valuable ones. Through the magazines, he began a correspondence with a young girl in Australia. This led him to go there in 1917. He obtained work, but having a weak heart, the change of climates had a bad effect and he died suddenly, after being in that country only a few weeks.

On account of the contagious nature of his disease, spinal meningitis, which develops very rapidly in that dry climate, the laws there require an immediate burial. So there his body lies, away from home and family, but his soul is with God in Heaven awaiting his loved ones. Ralph was good and kind and an affectionate son.

Amelia M. Wilmot (8), 4th child of Amzi (7) and Minerva L. Wilmot, was born at the old home in Mantua, Sept. 18, 1860. From early childhood, she was known as "Minnie."

At the age of 18, she began teaching in the country schools, having attended Hiram College four terms and a select school at Mantua Center two terms, taught by Frank Plum. After four years of teaching, spent one year at Ohio Normal University; Ada, Ohio. Then taught in the public schools of Lima, Ohio four or five years. Advised by a friend, she then learned shorthand and soon after located in Cleveland. Here she lived until Jan. 1927, when she went to Mantua where she now resides. Two winters were spent in Star, N. C. at the country Life Academy where she taught stenography and typewriting; also, kept the office books and did other office work. In most respects, this work more nearly satisfied the desire to be of some real benefit and the friendships formed will last longer than earth life.

Minnie died Nov. 26, 1932.

George (7) W., seventh child of Ella (6) and Lucretia B. Wilmot, was born Jan. 10, 1825 and married Lucia H. Palmer Jan. 13, 1852. They lived a few years in Mantua, Ohio then moved to St. Joe, Ind. where they lived the remainder of their lives. They returned for a short visit at the time of the death of his sister, Harriet (7) W. Sanford in 1877. Their six sons, who lived to manhood, came at intervals to Mantua for longer^{or} shorter periods. Two of them, Leon and Pliny, married here. Pliny settled here to live, and Leon for several years, then going to Michigan.

In a comparatively new country and a growing family, George and Lucia worked constantly and faithfully to provide a home. The father was not strong, suffering for years with a bad leg. He talked little but was good tempered and liked humor. Lucia was always bright and cheerful, a good talker and had a constant smile. She made companions of her boys and they helped her in her housework. Pliny always made the flower beds for her. She loved them and the writer can well remember the two long beds of many beautiful varieties in the front yard at the home by the river. Tho happy and cheerful to all, the mother cherished in her heart the memory of her only little girl, Lucretia, who died at three years.

Pliny tells of the joyful times they used to have in sugaring season. They would invite a number of young people and sugar off in a big kettle out-of-doors. The picture of Lucia with her six grown sons shows her cheerful and a loveable fine mother.

Ella (8), oldest son of George (9) W. and Lucia Palmer Wilmot, was born Nov. 27, 1852. He married Flora Coburn and lived at St. Joe, Ind. They raised a large family of fine children:

Here they lived a quiet, peaceful life; and with them their daughter Mary with her four children. It is a home where relatives and friends always find a real welcome. The memory of our visit there in 1929 will always be a happy one.

(Written Aug. 25, 1932). At 1:30 p.m., Pliny G. Wilmot (8) passed on to a much deserved rest. He had failed slowly but surely for more than two years and for several weeks had suffered much, although he did not give up entirely his work of doing for his afflicted wife until Fri. the 19th, when he prepared breakfast as usual, then washed himself and went to bed. He waited on himself until Monday afternoon when the Dr. forbade him getting on his feet. He failed rapidly and was unconscious from early morning of the 25th and slept away.

Good morning, I am very glad to hear from you.

Yours truly,

Clarence is a very energetic and active young man. He and Marion lived at the Carter home and ran a small farm, a filling station, and lunch room. Marion's mother is a great help keeping the house and children. Marion's grandmother died but a few years ago, aged over 100 years, so, for a time, there were four generations living in the home.

In Feb., 1928, Clarence had his right hand taken off in a corn husker. This would be a serious handicap to most young couples but not to Clarence and Marion. She was in the hospital at the time of the accident. Clarence went into the insurance business and very cheerfully took up his new work. In a year, he said he had made more than any one year at farm work. Marion has taught music for several years and still has some pupils at her home. A very fine family. Clarence served in the World War of 1918, and was in France for about eight months. In 1942-1943, he was employed at the Veterans Hospital near Brecksville, Ohio.

(Written July 11, 1930). At the reunion July 27, 1929 held at Lakeside Park, Fort Wayne, Ind. Ellen extended the invitation for herself and daughter Ruby for the meeting to be held in 1930 at Coldwater Lake. This was accepted and the date was set for Aug. 24, 1930.

Before closing the history of Leon's family, we pause to recall the years he spent in Mantua at Uncle Edwin's. He found a home that was pleasing to him and both Uncle Edwin and Lucia were fond of him. While there, he went to church with them and later became a member of the Deciple Church at Mantua Center. Here he met Ellen and together they began the founding of a family and a happy home.

Martha Wilmot, eighth child and 5th daughter of Ella and Lucretia, born Aug. 31, 1829; married to Dr. Andrew Squires of Mantua, Ohio on Jan. 17, 1850. They lived for some time in Mantua Center at the home of his father, Dr. Ezekiel Squire. The house is still in use and was for many years the Methodist parsonage. Later, they lived in Hiram. Before their marriage, Martha taught school; one place being what is now Mantua village. In Hiram, she was interested in the college and attended the public entertainments. She learned painting and developed real artistic talents. She left many pictures, the work of her hands. She kept a housefull of roomers and boarders for many years and with all her work, she still found time for painting, church aid, and some nursing of the Doctor's patients. She was very industrious and thorough about her work. She was truly missed after her death, which occurred on June 10, 1897 at Hiram. Dr. Squires died Sept. 3, 1897 at Hiram.

Two sons were born to Dr. A. J. and Martha Squires:

Andrew born Oct. 21, 1850 Mantua Center, Ohio. When old enough to enter the Electric Institution, his parents moved to Hiram that he might have the advantage of a higher school. He was preeminently a good student and graduated with honors. He went soon after to Cleveland and entered a law firm as an employee. He was careful and faithful in his duties and soon proved his ability to become a member of the firm. He always gave thought and consideration to every question and advanced rapidly. His opinion is still sought by large corporations and banks, of which he is a director and has been for many years, the ^{senior} ~~senior~~ member of the law firm Squires, Sanders and Dempsey. He attended the Wilmot Reunion held at Mantua Center in 1926 and invited the company to his country estate at Vallie Vue Farm for the reunion in 1927. This was joyfully accepted and a most delightful and happy day was spent in the beautiful woods and in going over the farm -- vegetable and flower gardens and through the poultry yards and barns, which contained ^{fine} ~~five~~ birds and stock of nearly every kind and of high grade.

Mrs. Squire was there to welcome the guests and her assistants showed the plan of beautifying the woods without destroying the natural beauty.

A most delicious noonday meal was served by caterers in a space set apart for a dining room, where tables and chairs were arranged. All this was furnished by the host and hostess and all were welcomed with a cheery goodwill. It is truly a day to be remembered.

Andrew was married on July 28, 1873 to Ella Mott at Auburn. They lived in Cleveland. Children:

May Modole born Nov. 9, 1874. In her early womanhood, while away at school, she passed away in April, 1891. She was a fine steady girl resembling her grandmother, Martha. What a comfort she would be now to her father.

Carl Andrew, son of Andrew and Ella M. Squire was born Jan. 18, 1876.

His home now is at Mill Valley, California.

Ella M. Wife of Andrew Squire died April 20, 1895 and was buried in Lake View Cemetery, Cleveland.

Andrew Squire married 2nd Eleanor Seymons on June 24, 1896. They lived at the home 3443 Euclid Ave., Cleveland and spend the fine warm afternoons and evenings in the beautiful woods at Vallee Vue.

Marion, second son of Dr. A. J. and Martha Wilmot Squires was born Oct. 3, 1857. He attended Hiram College, later studied dentistry and medicine in Cleveland and practiced in Mantua and Randolph. He was married Oct. 16, 1894 to Jessie Russell of Hiram, who was always a cheerful and helpful wife. They took care of Aunt Sophronia during her last years, Jessie attending to her wants with sympathy and patience.

Marion was frail in health from birth and while living at Randolph was obliged to give up his practice. They then moved to Kent with Jessie's mother, where Marion died on Oct. 23, 1915 after a long illness during which his wife devoted her time and most kind attention to him.

Jessie then cared for her mother and after her death, continued to live at the Russell home in Kent where her brother is a skillful physician.

In an interview with Andrew Squire in his office in Cleveland, he told of a double connection of the Squire and Blair families related to the Wilmots.

A brother of Dr. A. J. Squires married a half-sister of Lucretia Blair who married Ella Wilmot in 1810. That is the mother of Alice Squire, Henry and Cora Squire Wooley and was great aunt to Andrew on his mother's side.

On Sunday morning, May 15, 1932, Jessie having become weary of life on account of illness for several weeks, leaped into the river and her body was recovered in a short time but too late to restore the breath to her body. The funeral was held at the Russell home on Tuesday, May 17. Jessie was 62 yrs. old. Her brother, Dr. F. A. Russell, with whom she lived, has been in ill health for some time.

Mary, youngest child of Ella and Lucretia B. Wilmot was born Nov. 14, 1831; married Samuel C. Snow in Mantua on Oct. 10, 1869. They lived in Kansas, then in Santa Barbara, Calif. where she died April 13, 1884.
